

Any old mobiles?

Do you have any old, unwanted mobile phones?

If so, you can help the environment and raise money for our local schools

There are approximately 90 million old mobile phones lying around in this country. The average person replaces their phone every 18 months and their old ones often end up in the local landfill site.

Childrens Services have registered with the Collect 4 Schools scheme and started collecting old mobile phones to raise money for our local schools. They have already raised over £150 by recycling colour toner cartridges. The scheme has now been expanded to include recycling mobile phones.

The mobiles are reconditioned and sent abroad to developing countries to improve communication networks. If the mobiles are not suitable they are resold as second hand phones within the UK.

All you need to do is put your phone in an internal envelope and address is to Lorraine Maloney at Sanford House.
